FOR M'KINLEY IN THIS STATE Smith M. Weed, of Platisburg, the well-known Democrat of this State, does not think Mr. Bryan's election would be a good thing, and he is heartily against the Chicago ticket. He predicts the election of McKinley. While declaring against Bryan, he has nothing to say of Mr. Hill's attitude, except that his fight at Chicago ough; to command respect every-where. Mr. Weed remarked yesterday that the Republican majority in his county-Clinton-was usualpublican majority in his county—Clinton—was usually about 300, and that this year he believed it would be about 3,000. In the Congress District, he added, Wallace T. Foote, ir., would probably be elected by a majority of 25,000, although the vote was usually close. He said that he did not consider Mr. Bryan a Democrat, and that the Democratic voters up his way did not, which would account for the prospective falling off in the vote for the Democratic nominee and the huge vote for McKinley. Mr. Weed added if think that McKinley will get 250,000 majority in the State. The State ticket may run behind, and the majority will be about 150,000 or 200,000. The people up the State are not for free silver. As for Palmer and Buckner, it is nard to say just what vote they will get, but I do not think it will be large. When it comes down to actual voting the Democrat who believes in sound money will yet for McKinley."

MR. DICKINSON TO THE DRUMMERS.

HE ATTACKS THE CHICAGO PLATFORM AND DE-CLARES THAT WESTERN DEMOCRATS WILL REPUDIATE REPUDIATION.

Don M. Dickinson, ex-Postmaster-General under Cieveland's first Administration, addressed the noonday meeting of the Commercial Travellers' Sound Money League, at Broadway and Princest., yesterday. Mr. Dickinson said he came from the great body of stalwar' Democrats in the West who repudiated repudiation, and upon whose votes depended the defeat of Bryansm. He declared that depended the defeat of Bryansm. He declared that they would not stand upon the "un-Democratic un-American, unspeakable Chicago platform," and that in this campairn, when free government was assailed, they we leoking to their duty as true American citizens. The other speakers were colonei C. L. Young, of Springfield, Mass, and Edgar J. Dwyer, The meeting to-day will be ad-dressed by several speakers of National reputa-

HOT WORDS FROM GENERAL TRACY.

THE WARD FAIRCHILD CONTEST ARGUED BEFORE THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

Albany, Oct. 6. General Benjamin F. Tracy this afternoon vigorously denounced the followers of Judge Robertson in Westchester County, and said they were in league to turn that district over to the Democrats. The occasion was the hearing before Secretary of State Palmer as to which of the two Republican Congress nominees in the XVIth District should be declared regular by the Secretary of State in order to secure a place in the Republican column on the official ballot.

The convention controlled by the Plattites met at Yorkers and renominated Congressman Benjamin L. Fairchild. That controlled by Judge William H. Robertson, who has been the leader of the Westchester County Republicans for a quarter of a century, nominated William L. Ward at a convention held at White Plains.

congressman Fairchild was present with his counpel, General Tracy. Mr. Ward was represented by Judge Cadman, of Hudson, and H. C. Henderson, of New-Rochelle. The question was principally as to which convention was regularly called, each side asserting that the committee which called its convention was the authorized committee.

Mr. Henderson replied with much heat to General Tracy. "The people of Westchester County," he said, "do tat want Mr. Fairchild to represent them again in Congress. This was evidenced by the fact that only eight of the twenty-four delegates favored him. If you refuse to recognize our reguiarity we must content ourselves with nominating our candidate by petition.

Both sides have until Friday to file additional affidaytis. Secretary of State Palmer will undoubtedly report in favor of the regularity of Mr. Fairchild's nomination, and the question will then be carried into courts for settlement. Congresman Fairchild was present with his coun-

MR. WARNER'S CIRCULAR CRITICISED.

John De Witt Warner, as chairman of the Campaign Committee of the National Democratic party has been sending out a circular letter advising Demo crats that "now that McKinley's election is probable and New-York's electoral vote already assured him. that we should so extend and strengthen the lines of true Democracy as aggressively to represent the people's cause against the persistent attacks upon 8; which under Republican administration are as certhe day

We all believe that Mc-Kinley's election is assured, but is it good judgment to start a feeling of animosity in the ranks between Sound Money Democrats and Republicans before the canvass is over." I think that Mr. Warner might have left the distribution of this kind of campaign literature for a year or so hence."

NOTES OF THE CANVASS.

In order to encourage the patriotic feeling for honest money, without distinction of party, a number of business firms in John-st. yesterday sent out a circular, inviting their neighbors to display the American flag every day during business hours Raynor & Perkins Envelope Company, Humphreys Homoeo-Medicine Company, Morse Burtis, F. W. Gesswein Company, Heambir D. Benson & Son, Richard Oliver & Bloomfield, F. W. Brower, Newton & Shipman, W. & B. Douglas, D. G. Gautler & Co., J. L. Hopkins & Co., James A. The houses of the neighborhood were brilliantly illuminated. Two brass bands and a fife and drum corps furnished music. The bantier is a large American flag which was draped on the front of the building above a transparency bearing the names of the Republican candidates. President Fred-erick Bernstein presided, and speches were made by Congressman Philip B. Low, Frederick Horn, Repub-lican candidate for the Assembly, Emil Labishiner, and Edward Gillespie.

The members of the Murray Hill Battery are requested to report at 7:30 o'clock this evening in full uniform to take part in the raising of two McKin-ley banners. The headquarters is at Porty-second-st, and Seventh-ave.

The business men in the central part of the city appear to be as fully alive to the importance of the | Would cound-money campairn as their brethren in lower Broadway and its neighborhood. This is shown in the way they are following the example of raising the National colors and displaying the names of McKinley and Hobart, the popular feature of the campaign. Another handsome flag has been un-furled in West Forty-second-st, by the Spaldingfurled in West Forty-second-st, by the Spalding-Bidwell Company. It is a splendid National emblem, thirty feet in length, with the names of the Republican candidates for President emblazon of thereon. The newly hoisted flag is being admired by the thousands who pass under it daily. It is said that other merchants and dealers whose establishments are in this important part of the city are preparing to do likewise. As West Forty-second-st is a thoroughfare through which a large proportion of the visitors coming to New-York pass, the lesson taught by these McKinley and Hobart flags cannot full to produce good results and aid in arousing a spirit of patriotic devection to the cause of sound money and the maintenance of National honor.

THIS MONTH. Mark A. Hanna started for the West at & o'clock yesterday evening. He remained at headquarters intil the last moment in consultation with Mr Quay, Mr. Hobart, Mr. Scott, General Clayton, Mr. Bliss and General Osborne. He urged upon all those at headquarters that the battle be kept up incessantly, and that the majority for Major Mc-Kinley be made as large as poss,ble. Before starting for the West Mr. Hanna summed up the tion by saying:

Everything is perfectly satisfactory. Our position is strong in the East. It has been growing stronger every day on this sound-money question, and the reflection of that is spreading and exerting its influence all over the country. Mr. Danforth was asked after the meeting when he expected to be able to make public the looked-for letter from Senator Hill.

Mr. Hill lsn't writing any letters at present," was the chairman's reply.

One cause of the poor attendance was explained. Each member is assessed 100 for incidental expenses and to aid the campaign fund. It was understood that the delinquents, of whom there is a large number, were to chip in their back dues last evening. Treasurer Gaynor's books do not show that the meeting was a howling success in this respect.

FLORIDA ELECTS STATE OFFICERS.

THE DEMOCRATS WILL PROBABLY HAVE NOT EX CEEDING 20,000 PLURALITY.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 6.-The election in Florida to-day passed off quietly, but the meagre returns so far received indicate that a light vote was cast. The election was held under the Australian ballot la and reports show that Democrats, Republicans and Populists alike are dissatisfied with it. The count is exceedingly slow, owing to the length of the bal lots. Official returns will not be in until to-morrow or next day, but estimates to-night place the Demo cratic plurality at not over 20,000, and it may fall considerably below that figure. There were three complete State tickets in the field-Democratic, Republican and Populist-and the Prohibitionists had a candidate for Governor. It was the first time the Republicans had a ticket in the field since 1888.

The lightness of the vote is attributed to the new election law and to the recent storm which swept The Republicans will probably the State. The Republicans will probably have four and perhaps six members of the Legislature out of a total of 100. This Legislature elects a successor to United States Senator Call, and it is not likely that he will be returned, although a Silver Democrat will undoubtedly be chosen. The candidates for Governor are: Democrat, William D. Bloxham: Republican, E. R. Gunby; Populist, William A. Weeks.
In 1822 the vote for Governor was as follows: Mitchell (Dem., 22.04; Boskin (Pop.), 8.306; Mitchell's plurality, 2.755.

The Presidential vote in 1888 was: Cleveland, The Presidential vote in 1888 was: Cleveland. The Presidential vote in 1888 was: Cleveland, 29,561; Harrison, 25,557; Cleveland's plurality, 12,904.

PLEASED WITH THE ELECTRIC MOTOR.

RUSSELL SAGE AND MR. FRANSIOLI GRATIFIED WITH ITS PRELIMINARY WORKINGS ON THE ELEVATED ROAD.

It is not likely that the fate of the electric motor will be decided as far as the Manhattan Elevated Railroad is concerned for some time to come. The officials of the road are much pleased with its workings in the preliminary trials, and if the motor does all that its promoters claim for it, it will in all probability be adopted for general use on the vated roads. What the officials want to know is how the motor will behave in all kinds of weather to which it must be subjected if it is relied upon to urnish motive power for the elevated system. This is why the motor will be put upon its good behavior for some little time yet before any decision is made with regard to its adoption.

W. J. Fransfoli, acting general manager of the Manhattan system, said to a Tribune reporter yes-terday: "Yes, we are pleased with the preliminary tests of the motor. If it continues to perform a of to-day and yesterday, I should think its chancewould be good. I want to see it thoroughly tried in the snow, sleet and ice of winter. There is where a difficult test must be passed. Of course the adoption of the motor does not rest with me, but my recommendation would doubtless have some weight with the directors." Russell Sage was also pleased with the first tests of the motor, and said that it looked as if it might be the very thing that was wanted. He added that it would be adopted if it wanted. He added that it would be adopted if it proved to be a success.

It might not be amiss if the officials of the road should spend some of their energies in paying a bit of attention to the lighting of their cars, which grows more intolerable every day. It seems as if the lights of the cars had been gradually going out for the last five years. According to the law recently passed the company must equip one-third of its cars with electric lights by May 1, 1857. But if the present lights keep growing dimmer the cars are likely to be in total darkness by Christmas time.

Secretary Fishback said that the party had been ardially received everywhere. They first visited Brazil where they were received on behalf of the President by the Minister of Foreign Affairs. One of the party, E. S. Bacon, died on September 9, and the remaining members of the party, after having district the commercial centrs of Brazil and the coffee districts, proceeded to the Argentine Republic, where they spent seventeen days in examining the grain districts. They were entertained by the President and the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the various Boards of Trade. The chief of the Statistical Bureau accompanied the party in its travels, giving to the members all the information at his command; but the party's visit to Brazil and the Argentina Republic was an almost uninterrupted series of banquets and fetes in their honor.

At the present time, Mr. Fishback says, it is impossible for United States manufacturers to compete with the English in the commercial centres in South America. The English merchant has an es tablishment in every centre and ships to transport goods everywhere. The trip of the Americans, how-

RAILWAY CONDUCTORS AT DINNER.

MAYOR STRONG AND OTHER WELL-KNOWN SPEAKERS ADDRESS THE CLUB AT GERLACH'S The Railway Conductors' Club of North America held its first annual dinner last evening at Gerlach's, in Twenty-seventh-st, near Sixth-ave. Plates were laid for 200. The club, which is still in its infancy as far as years are concerned, was organized to pro-mote arbitration and to bring together the employer and the employe so that they may better understand each other. The dinner last night was a decided success. The tables were laid in the main diningroom, and the large hall was decorated with American flags and a dainty drapery of smilax. At each plate was a conductor's lantern in miniature, with candle, and all ready for use. In addition to the lanterns there was also at each plate an appropriate

Mayor Strong as chairman of the evening. The Mayor delivered the address of welcome in an unusually happy vein, telling some amuring anecdotes of his first trip to the metropolis by stage. The other speakers were Jacob A. Cantor, Theodore Roosevelt, E. Ellery Anderson, Grand Chief Conductor E. E. Clark, Edward Lauterbach, Grand Master Locomotive Firemen F. P. BLASTED LIVES.

DR. GREENE'S CHICKERING HALL LECT-

MISERIES OF THE VICTIMS OF PREMA-TURE DECAY_THE DOCTOR HANDLES THE SUBJECT WITHOUT GLOVES-THE HOPELESS ENCOURAGED AND DESPAIRING CHEERED -MEANS TOLD FOR RES-TORATION OF VITAL-

Not only weak and ailing men, but those in health are indebted to Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New-York city, for his brilliant Chickering Hall lectures.

ITY AND VIGOR.

The weak and alling because he has pointed out to them the means of recovering their health, strength and vigor; those in health because he has shown the rocks and quicksands where many a gallant life bark has been wrecked.

Dr. Greene was listened to with almost breathless attention by the large audience of men, who felt that they were hearing the words of truth and wisdom fall from the lips of one as eminent for his medical skill as he is distinguished for his discoveries in the domain of remedies and famed for his marvellous cures. In fact, there is no physician in active practice to-day so well fitted, so eminently qualified to discuss the conditions brought about by overwork, imprudence and excesses as Dr. Greene. He has made the causes of the loss of vitality and vigor in men and the condition of debility and premature and the condition of debility and premature decay the study of his life, as those who listened to him could easily discern.

Dr. Greene graphically described the gradual processes by which those in possession of health and vigor reach a condition of debility and nervous prostration, the successive steps and stages of decay. Nothing can be more insidious than the approach of this foe of human happiness, the premature decay of the physical powers. It is the more insidious from the fact that it does not always manifest itself in physical forms, but often in mental deterioration beginning with melanchol' and hypochondriasis. There is a loss of apirits, the subject is overshadowed by gloom, and there is an ever present apprehension of impending disaster. The intimate connection of the body and mind is thus shown, the decay of the physical powers finding its first manifestation in mental disturbances.

As the maindy makes progress the physical ances.

As the maiady makes progress the physical disorders show themselves. The body becomes weak. There is a consciousness of loss of vigor and vitality that causes the utmost alarm; the heart becomes affected functionally and paipitation ensues on the least exertion. Dyspepsia is a feature which frequently introduces itself at this stage, and with it come above. tacks of dizziness accompanied by drowsiness and an indisposition to exertion. In time stomach liver, kidneys and bowels become functionally disordered. The subject sighs often, there is a difficulty of breathing at times, pain in the right or left shoulder or both, and sometimes in the chest and ab both, and sometimes in the chest and abdomen.

The nervousness increases with every stage of progress and the most feafful imagining are the result. They produce wakefulness at night, or when sleep comes dreams and visions ensue. Complete devitalization follows, and though the victim may bear up bravely and use every effort to conceal from his friends the fast that he is paying the penalty for his errors and indiscretions, it is all too apparent to them that there is something wrong with him. The complexion has lost its healthful tint, the color has gone from the cheeks, the skin has become of a dull leaden hue or taken on a sickly yellowish tinge that is unpleasant to look upon; the eye has become dull and lifeless, its brightness and sparkle gone, the step has lost its springy elasticity and become feeble and lagging, the face has lost its vivacity and much of its expression, and the erect pose of the form can no more be maintained save by strong physical effort and determination of the will, neither of which can be long sustained.

Nature is compelling the victim to honor the Nature is compelling the victim to honor the Nature is compelling the victim to honor the drafts he has made on her in the days of his health and vigor. In the pride of his physical power he made an overestimate of the strength of his vital resources, and now he would give all he is worth for the privilege of beginning all over again. Repentance has come, and an overwhelming regret that he had not the common sense and the prudence to live rationally, and in harmony with the laws of his being and those of society.

live rationally, and in harmony with the laws of his being and those of society.

But how much increased is the calamity if at this time the victim of imprudence and indiscretion is engaged to marry. With shattered nerves, a constitution devitalized, a prey to melancholia and the blues, without hope, can he contemplate the obligation to which he has committed himself without dread? Impossible. With the consciousness of his condition the obligation adds to his misery, and increases his misfortune a thousandand increases his misfortune a th

But all is not lost. There is still hope, still a road to recovery for even the most desper-ate case. Dr. Greene now turned to the bright side of the picture and painted that in such side of the picture and painted that in such glowing colors that there was no further reason for any one to despair. Dr. Greene has made this condition of weakness, of mental and physical debility the study of his life. Possessed of a brilliant and penetrative mind, an indefatigability in research and investigation, he has succeeded in discovering the true remedies for the restoration of the weak and suffering. After years of unwearied investigation and experiment he discovered the only effectious medicines that have ever been applied successfully to the cure of this weakening and exhausting disease. These wonderful medicines are purely vegetable in their ingredients, and have been so carefully brought together and so skillfully combined that the remedies give a result which never falls to cure the weak and discouraged sufferer and make him again a strong, vitalized and vigorous man. orous man.
